Part B. Other codes or regulatory framework on corporate governance, where the company is subject.

Bakkafrost follows the Norwegian Code of Practice for Corporate Governance and is not subject to other codes or regulatory framework on corporate governance.

Part C. The main elements of Bakkafrost's internal control and risk management systems used in the financial reporting process.

The basis of the financial reporting process is well-defined authorisations, a segregation of duties, regular reporting and significant transparency regarding the Group's circumstances. The shared IT platform helps provide the documentation of accounting data across the Group and reduce financial reporting risks.

The financial reporting risks are regularly assessed by the Group's Finance Department. The most significant risks are regulatory risk, reporting process risk and value measurement risk. Regulatory risk consists of the increasing number of disclosure requirements imposed on Bakkafrost by both national and international bodies and organisations. Bakkafrost must incorporate the required information in its financial reporting. Reporting process risk concerns the preparation of interim and annual reports. Because of the large data volumes and short reporting deadlines, the financial reporting process depends on the Group's IT systems. Value measurement risk concerns the biomass, fixed-priced contracts and deferred taxes for which estimates and assumptions may significantly affect the valuation of assets and liabilities. These financial items are described in the Significant Accounting Estimates note to the consolidated financial statements.

The Group management has implemented controls to eliminate financial reporting risks, which have been identified, and regularly monitors changes in and compliance with relevant legislation and other financial reporting regulations. The purpose of the controls is to prevent, detect and correct reporting errors and irregularities. Although controls reduce the risk, they provide no guarantee against such errors and irregularities.

The Group has a well-established procedure of regular reporting, including deviation reports for the individual units of the Group. Internal management reporting is based on the same principles as external reporting, and local and central units use the same data and reporting systems. The Group's finance department reviews the reports and uses them to prepare the consolidated financial statements to be submitted to the Group's management.

The Group management regularly reports to the board of directors and its committees on compliance with the risk and investment framework set out and with statutory investment rules. The board of directors also receives accounting information on an ongoing basis.

Part D. The management bodies and their committees and functions.

Bakkafrost has a conventional two-tier management structure with a board of directors and a management (executive board). Under the management structure, the board of directors is responsible for the overall and strategic management, while the management is in charge of day-to-day management, observing the guidelines issued by the board of directors.

The board of directors consists at the moment of five members all elected by the general meeting.

The management consists of, the Chief Executive Officer, the Chief Financial Officer, and the Managing Director of Havsbrún.

The board of directors has appointed two board committees: an audit committee and a nomination committee. The committees prepare cases for consideration by the board of directors and thus have no independent decision-making authority.
